Planning and building communities where places matter The Ministry of Housing, Communities and Local Government More than a million people live in South West England, and every day 100,000 people move in to a new home to live in the local area. Today we are launching the Communities First design and planning toolkit, which will help people develop a community plan. It will also ensure that communities are better planned and supported, which is good for people, housing and for the environment. The Communities First toolkit is part of the government's 10-year plan for local communities. Your local community plan will help you to create a vision for the future of your community. As part of the plan, councils will provide community-led design services to more people and neighbourhoods. Where they work Councillors Every ward on every council is represented by a council or district councillor. The democratically elected councillors take local responsibility to work with people to develop their local plans, rather than simply planning the area for development. The Department for Communities and Local Government is responsible for local government and for the development, maintenance and renewal of the infrastructure within which councillors and their executive colleagues operate. A special focus is placed on helping to ensure that communities and the wider public have a say in the way their neighbourhoods are planned and developed. This includes working with councils to develop a more integrated planning system that integrates the planning process and working closely with communities. Communities First will be implemented and delivered through the Department for Communities and Local Government. This includes a new commissioning model for local government which will bring about a significant change in the way local services are commissioned and delivered. In addition, the number of neighbourhood and community development officers will be increased by 50% and there will be a dedicated unit to develop neighbourhood plans for every local authority in England. The Communities First toolkit The Communities First toolkit will help councils and communities to develop their plans and it will encourage a new approach to how people, places and communities are planned and developed. The toolkit will include guidance on a range of issues and a set of templates to help councils and communities get the most out of their plans. It will also set out community

Html to Word Doc Rtf Converter 3000 is a Windows tool specialized in converting HTML files to DOC, XLS, RTF, and plain text file format. Batch processing The app reveals a clean design that lets you build up a list with the documents that you want to process. You can manually select the items that are included in conversion task and view details about each file, such as filename, path, size, file type, and date. What's more, you can add files in the workspace using the built-in browse button or drag-and-drop support. In addition, you may import the content of an entire folder or add a custom URL, delete the selected files from the list, and clear the entire working environment with a single click. Batch actions can be employed for processing multiple HTML documents at the same time. The utility manages to preserve the original layout when it comes to copying text data but not the same thing can be said about tables. Conversion tweaks Html to Word Doc Rtf Converter 3000 gives you the possibility to choose the saving directory and pick the preferred output format. Several output tweaks enable you to remove blank lines when converting data, save images detected on websites, and merge Excel sheets. The application lets you set up filename rules, prompt upon encountering error messages, and open the output directory at the end of the task. Performance assessments Tests have shown that Html to Word Doc Rtf Converter 3000 needs extra time in order to finish the conversion process especially when it has to deal with large documents. It eats up CPU and memory resources so the overall performance of the computer may be hampered. Conclusion The bottom line is that Html to Word Doc Rtf Converter 3000 comes with a straightforward design, which is easy to decode even by less experienced users, for carrying out conversion tasks. Html to Word Doc Rtf Converter Software Screenshot: An inaugural Best of Northern California issue is now available. The inaugural issue of GLOBSERVING: Northern California is now available. To download a free, one-year subscription to GLOBSERVING, please click here. Issue 02 picks up where Issue 01 (Winter 2017) left off with the continued exploration of science and how it might be applied to the greater challenges of contemporary life. The new issue puts forward fundamental questions about our human place on the planet, the globalized economy, and the future of the Anthropocene, and explores how the expansion of western civilization may be easing these climatic and global problems. The section on astrophotography, originally featured in Issue 01, is enhanced with new images, commentary, and insights from both amateur and professional enthusiasts. Meanwhile, the articles about weather, climate, and astronomical research are well represented by original GLOBSERVING content. This issue also includes a feature article about the University of Montana's MOON HORIZON satellite project, and a special section on the Study Abroad program at the Universities of Montana and Bakersfield.
