What does a good tactics board do? - It helps to identify your team's weaknesses - It helps to identify your team's strengths - It helps to find flaws in your team's strategies - It helps to identify alternative tactics, tactics that do not count as real tactics but can help you on the road to winning. This app allows you to manage your tactics board like a tool, not just a location. You can change the colors, font, and design and apply all the changes across the board. All the functionality remains intact and you get a real board that you can use to your hearts content. The app is responsive and looks awesome. You can take a look at the app on the iTunes page at If you like this app, don't forget to rate and give it 5 stars. And remember, have fun working. A tactics board is an essential tool for any football manager. This is because it helps you think of your team's and the opposition's strengths and weaknesses and how you can implement a winning strategy. You don't need any previous knowledge of football, because a tactics board allows you to visualize the entire game. This is done by first drawing a picture of the playing area and the different fields (the field of play, goal area, penalty areas etc.). This is then filled with a color which represents the attacking team's and the defending team's strengths and weaknesses. After that, you can work on the team's strategies, you can work on the tactics of the opposing team. All the information you need is in this one single place. You can move the players around, the referee, the defensive area, and the goalkeeper to see how all the information you need fits together. In conclusion, - You can manage your tactics board like a tool, not just a location - It allows you to choose between a top-down and side view - The information you need is all in one place - You can choose the number of players, you can choose the number of formations, you can choose the number of team positions, and you can choose the number of off-the-ball positions (gK, W, D etc) - You can manage formations, tactics and players - You can manage defenders, midfielders and attackers - You can manage different player positions - You

What's New In Sports Tactics Board?

It may leave the impression of a game, but this application wants to be taken seriously. It features a clean yet professional look, which provide a suitable testing ground for any tactics that might just bring home a trophy. In terms of ease of access, your mouse will suffice. You just need to drag and drop players in the desired field positioning. This is done in multiple sequences that can be viewed either while work is in progress, or once you think you have finished your idea. Save your work, and you are ready to test it in the field. You can also create layouts and starting positions, and save them under different names, categories, and add a small description in case you forget how the specific tactic works. Full control with top down view Sports Tactics Board allows you to work from a top down view of the field. It offers several different sports to choose from, each with its unique design. You can move anything around, your players, the opponent's players, and even the referees. Position them in close proximity in each sequence and you get a smooth look on how your strategy works, step by step. Moving paths are also visible, however you can chose to disable them. In conclusion All in all, Sports Tactics Board offers an alternative to the classic blackboard or pen and paper strategy organization method. It comes in handy for when you don't have the required space nor the blackboard, and makes it easy to share with your team, so they know what they have to do. Is there anything better than sitting on a couch at night, in the dark, with your favorite snack in your hand, watching the relaxing flow of the movies in your iTunes library? Unfortunately, this happens to be impossible with most smartphones, due to their high power drain. Whether you like it or not, your smartphone consumes power, and now you need a way to control this. With the power management and battery analyzer app Battery Doctor Pro, you can now control your smartphone battery life, and see how it compares to the specifications of the device, as well as your peers. All the information you need is in the app With the Battery Doctor Pro you have the possibility to get detailed information of your device, including memory usage, peak values of your apps, CPU usage, Wi-Fi power consumption, device temperature and device battery level. As you can see, this information is definitely not just for bragging rights, but also for making informed decisions in the realm of battery management. This can be important, for example, if you like to use your phone while it's on airplane mode, so you have to rely on your battery for the duration of your trip. How to use The app gives you the possibility to control your smartphone battery life and monitor its power consumption. You can choose how to control your device by pressing the buttons. You can tap on the battery
