With the exhibition at the Derby Museum and Art Gallery, a cast of naked models will recreate the works of over 100 leading artists as they would have appeared during the season they were created, in an exhibition that is breathtaking in scale and spectacular in clarity and detail. This year, the spring exhibition will include portraits of Shakespeare's historical figures in full costume, showing how they would have appeared in the 17th century. The exhibition also features scenes of moments of inspiration, as demonstrated by Rubens's The Inspiration of Nature. You can even view The Creation of Adam by Michelangelo as a male nude in the summer exhibition. The exhibition will take place between February 23rd – May 3rd, 2012 and is priced at £4.50 for adults, £2.50 for students and free for children under 15.
