Since 2010, the ship is used as part of the Israel's Beit Hanoun blockade. On May 5, 2012, the Gaza Flotilla of six vessels that set out from a number of countries, including Italy, Sweden and Greece, were attacked by Israeli Navy commandos. The Israeli military claimed that after over 30 hours of negotiation with the Israeli naval command, which offered lift-off the next day, the six vessels in the flotilla refused the offer and said that they would not be lifted and attacked at dawn. Israel attacked the flotilla with live rounds, rubber bullets, and tear gas to prevent the flotilla from reaching Gaza, and to deter the ships from attempting to breach the blockade. Some of the combatants were killed in the naval operation. The ship was sent to retrieve the bodies of the dead flotilla participants. The Israeli Commandos boarded the ships and confiscated the personal belongings of the dead. On May 9, 2012, it left Jaffa for Gaza, with the six other ships in tow. In 2014, the Israeli military tried to confiscate the ship in order to evade the sanctions against Hamas. References External links Category:2010 ships Category:Gaza
