This site is about a game we're making called "Re:BF" (although its not very finished right now, but should be at the end of this year). I'm providing the user with a basic story about the game, background of characters, and a little bit of gameplay. There will be 4 characters that can be chosen from, but not too much yet. Each character is linked to a "sprite" page on our website, which is all we have right now. If you'd like to contact us, you can either send me an e-mail (theadrianb@gmail.com), or follow our Twitter. Thanks for reading! Games for Windows Live Games for Windows Live was a service developed by Microsoft for the PC and Xbox 360. Games that use this service are able to connect to each other for a variety of purposes, including leaderboards. Some games specifically use this service for achievements, such as Call of Duty 4: Modern Warfare. GFWL has been discontinued, and all games that used it will be in the future. Bugs If you've reported a bug that isn't described here, or if you find a bug, feel free to report it! It won't be fixed, at the time, because it's planned (once again) to take some hours for me to write the entire game in C# because I want to learn. However, it's planned to port the game to PC, XBLA and iOS, which are supported. And again, I'll be expecting critique about the programming from you guys ;). (That's in C# and Mono - not sure if you know that) A: Hi again! I have fixed the bug where the exe was non-functional without the game's splash screen. Rezhin: Programming, yeah, I'm looking at it now. Difficulty, well, I won't say no, but we'll see what happens

Bacterial vaginosis. Bacterial vaginosis (BV) is the most common cause of vaginal discharge. It is characterized by a shift in the normal microflora, resulting in an overgrowth of bacteria normally present in the lower genital tract and an increased density of microorganisms. The most common anaerobe is Gardnerella vaginalis; however, the role of Streptococcus bacteria in BV is controversial. BV is polymicrobial, with a normal balance of bacteria, and with a specific, limited spectrum of bacteria. This limited flora remains stable in most women, but bacterial vaginosis is one of the most common causes of vaginal discharge in women. The treatment of bacterial vaginosis should be directed at the etiologic agent, Gardnerella vaginalis, and the normal flora should be preserved. The most effective treatment is suppression of G. vaginalis with metronidazole. Empiric treatment with oral penicillin, often combined with clindamycin, is ineffective. This invention relates to a unique digital printing and cutting system that digitally prints images on a paper medium using an array of light emitting diode (LED) light sources, and then cuts the image through a linear array of LEDs on a digital cutter. In some preferred embodiments, the image is a mechanical image that is applied to the paper medium. Flexible substrates, such as paper, are common in the art of displaying images. Such flexible substrates are used in many different applications, such as wrapping, billboards, posters, and photo albums. Such flexible substrates are usually referred to as "paper" in the art of displaying images. Printing on paper has always had limitations. The printing and cutting process involves an inordinate number of moving parts and steps, making it time consuming

Realpolitik II: Europe's New Reality (;) is a 24-episode Danish political series, broadcast by TV2 in 2000 and written by Nicolai Backhaus Højerum, David Lindsæther, Niels Gabrielsen and Henrik Lykke Friis. It is a spin-off from Realpolitik (1998-99), where the four main characters, Johannes Flindt, Rikke Petersen, Stig Broe and Ebbe Stark, met in a student protest on the Berlin Wall. Contents Every episode starts with a scene in a domestic setting. A new, disturbing event occurs in the life of one of the characters, forcing him or her to confront a constant challenge which lies in the dilemma of his or her identity. Characters Johannes Flindt (Rasmus Hardiker), a young man who is marked for life by his connection to the assassination attempt on then Norwegian Prime Minister Olaf Palme and by the subsequent 'Unabomber' bombing incident of the White Rose group in the 1970s which killed two of his fellow students. One of Flindt's parents is missing and he has an only brother who serves the prison system in what was once The People's Republic of Nordkorea. On the other hand, he has a kind of family with his friend Stig Broe who comes from a wealthy Stockholm architect family of whom he is smitten. But Flindt also has to deal with an almost permanent nausea. He receives an attempt of an unnamed illness, which he curbs through the use of powerful antidepressants, leading to his and the doctors' concerns which eternally dog him and his crises, during the episodes. Rikke Petersen (Jens Berthelsen), Johannes Flindt's fellow student and potential love interest, but a human victim of the 'Unabomber' bombing. Ebbe Stark (Christian Aakjær), Flindt's Copenhagen flatmate who has a hidden agenda and private wealth. A highly educated lawyer, he is rich within the mafioso circles of his family. He is responsible for the death of his own friend Eric Höglund (Søren Lerche) from which he covered his feelings by raping Höglund's wife. In Realpolitik I, Ebbe eventually became a member of the opposition party Venstre which was led by him. In

Command up to seven ships through space to wreak havoc on the ground, earning valuable victory points along the way. - Can be enjoyed by up to four people on one 3DS, or two 3DSs in a handheld mode. (four with two cameras.) - Transmits data via cellular (3G and 4G LTE), WiFi, and Bluetooth. - Requires one 3DS to connect to the 4G wireless network. - Game is portable. Will work anywhere with a 3DS. As a pilot of the Silhouette, you and your ships must destroy the enemy forces and destroy their Silhouette's. The faster your enemy and Silhouette's fall, the more points you will get. However, whenever a Silhouette or an enemy runs into a ground terrain, you will lose points. The higher score you reach the more rewards you will get. As a pilot of the Silhouette, you can select from up to four ships: - The Interceptor: your main pilot. Uses lasers. - The Bomber: your secondary pilot. Uses missiles. - The Fighter: your auxiliary pilot. Uses turbos. - The Defender: your support pilot. Uses proton torpedoes. System Requirements: Two 3DS systems Play with two people on one 3DS with both cameras, or play with two 3DS systems using a handheld mode (2DS, 2DS XL) Two Wi-Fi access points (connected by Ethernet cable) 2GB SD card to save progress (or larger to save more of it) (SD cards sold separately) Cameras A 5.5cm lens is sufficient to allow both cameras to play at 720p@30fps. * Please play with the view settings at your own discretion. GENERAL INFORMATION NOTES All 3DS models produced after 2016 will be able to play this game. Battle Rank will be included in the game. Battle Rank is ranked on Battle Rank. The default Battle Rank is 600, and you will be asked to confirm the Battle Rank during the game. It is recommended to play with a Battle Rank higher than the Battle Rank of the player piloting the Silhouette. (battle rankings will be sent to the bottom of this Nintendo eShop page.) The default Battle Rank is 600. However, you will be asked to
