prazosine in heart failure]. Different therapeutic strategies have been proposed in the treatment of congestive heart failure (CHF). These strategies may have different effects on the severity of the disease. Among them, the use of prazosin has been suggested as a possible approach. Although the drug has been widely used, little evidence exists in its efficacy in the treatment of CHF. To analyse the results of a study of the use of prazosin as a treatment for CHF. In order to determine the therapeutic efficacy, a double-blind, randomized, placebo-controlled study was designed. Seventy-two patients, aged 49 to 79 years, who were suffering from severe CHF and who
