What's new:

Air Raiders 109 1st team squad - Scouts Location: New B.E.R. game PREVIEW: Air Raiders by Sheena Valentine REVIEW: Air Raiders by Sheena Valentine Credits: ~Sheena Valentine Intro: ~Wulf the Barbarian Air Raiders is a part of the Air Raider series of miniatures rules; when League play began last year, Air Raiders was 3rd in line. At the time, we had a device in place to give players the score for the Air Raiders game: a game-changing achievement called the Air Raider Piloted Weapon Combat Frame (ARPCF). As you can see, it's only got one odd thing on it, so you'll need a good explanation for why that's important before we proceed. Enjoy! INTRO NOTES The ARPCF. The first time you win with the ARPCF, you get the odd achievement on your game-changing achievement of the day. No one knows what to do with it, but they just figure it should go to the top spot. With the next 30 ARPCFs, you give them to a randomly selected friend, who may or may not be happily surprised to get it, and then they're yours. The only downside is that when you finally give it up, you'll have 10 heroes and 23 commoners to stuff into the other 4 slots. The Honor Guard. Sort of like a Galactic Federation Honor Guard, that's how we're going to refer to them from here on out. They may not be that smart, but their lineage makes them duke it out with the Rasalhague Royal Guard. SINGULAR ENEMY Everyone knows the Alzraeli might be inferior in numbers, but they're tenacious and have some clever techniques up their sleeve. They're a pretty cocky enemy that thinks that they're pretty much invincible. If you have a tough one to work with, you'll run into them in the sixth battle against the UT Empire. Their captain makes for a great leader and a clear enemy objective. FLEET SECURITY Security is important. Some people are just going to, you know, steal your stuff. We get it. It's in the ToS. They don't do much else though, and it's not like you'll see them up in front, coming out to get into fights. They can be a bit of an issue,

Map-Work has always been a challenge for wargamers. Getting a map made is expensive and even a good map can be a pain to use. That is why we decided to try and create an alternative for creating maps and I have been thinking about this for months now. Fortunately our development team and I are not completely dumb and thought about it. So as you may have already guessed this will turn into a review and not a developer's point of view. We have created Worldrender.org and we are currently testing and tweaking the engine. Worldrender is a browser based mapping tool that allows you to create your own maps. You can use it for your own strategy games or for creating a map for your favorite game. You have one year to map after downloading it. We are going to add the feature of downloading the last version of the map automatically, but we are still not sure if this will work properly. We will update this thread as often as we can with things that we add to the site. Those of you who have been following this project know by now that Worldrender is not a music game. It will not make you a music game producer, or make you a bestseller and nor will it make you a much
