In Brute: Brute Force, the player is a furry red bullet ... with a powerful cannon attached to its head. Brute Force 2 is the sequel of Brute Force and it's the creation of just one guy: myself, GMG! I'm not a professional game developer, so here's some advice from someone who's learned the ropes over time and is still learning: Don't get discouraged. If you make it past the tutorial and some of the first puzzles, you've made it. If you quit before that, you'll have to try again. There's no shame in that. It's our greatest capacity to learn. You'll find lots of helpful advice (and a lot of "helpful" advice) on my site, and hopefully in the web-only documentation that's linked from the game. Tutorials in Brute: There are a number of tutorials in the game, although not all of them are apparent (or intended) from the start. Most of them are spread through the game, and a lot of them are there to help the player get through the story. They are: What's New: Help me track down development on Brute Force 2! Castles, Castles, Everywhere: Help me defeat an angry king with a fleet of ships! Castles, castles, everywhere! Shooting in a Drawer: Help me shoot a soul into a town's walls! Shooting in a drawer! Shooting in a drawer! Planning the Future: Help me build the perfect house for your lovely family! Planning the Future! Planning the Future! Road Work: My road work machine needs a battery! My road work machine needs a battery! My road work machine needs a battery! It is located in the Swamp. Can you find it? It is located in the Swamp. Can you find it? It is located in the Swamp. Can you find it? Deadly Towers: What's that tower made out of? What's that tower made out of? What's that tower made out of? Radical Solutions: Help me to get through the enemy city! The main character, and the gameplay itself is a mix between FTL and Slender. First, a space ship called The Patriot has fallen into a small asteroid. Inside, you find your character. He must then find a way to return home. Luckily, he had saved, and so, has a spaceship called The Patriot. Your main goal is to find your way back to Earth, without dying in the process. The game takes place in a 3D game space, in which your mission is not only to save the Earth, but also to save your own life, make some friends along the way, but mainly, to survive. The weapon in your hand, it is the the SpaceKnife that will help you in achieving your goal. The SpaceKnife is a rocket-launcher, dual-wielded, it is a weapon system with a limited resource and dual-function, it's a weapon that can be either used for defensive or offensive purposes. The Caster is your ultimate shield, a consumable shield that can be used as many times as you want, it's a defensive weapon that protects your weapon in case you attack it. The First Aid kit is a consumable item, it has a high healing rate, it can be used to heal yourself and to heal your weapons. As I mentioned before, my weapon, the SpaceKnife is a rocket-launcher, it is loaded with 2 rockets, but, I can also load it up with up to 4 rockets, which gives me more options, as I can use it either as a defensive or offensive weapon. The interesting thing about the SpaceKnife is that it has an extremely high percentage of homing, meaning that, in the state that you launch it, you can always aim it at its destination. Being in space, and everything is relative, you can always change the distance between you and your target, by holding down the E Button. You can also change it by holding down the SpaceKnife's Button. There are several types of rockets, each one works with a different amount of speed, the only thing that they have in common is that they all can be charged up before use, so, a rocket that is fast works like a 50/50 shot. There are four types of rockets: -Forward -Incoming -Homing -Chasing I usually use Homing rockets, and there are
