Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a mobile communication system and a method of performing handover, and more particularly, to a mobile communication system and a method of performing handover from a cell in which a signal from a user equipment (UE) cannot be received to another cell in which the signal from the UE can be received. 2. Discussion of the Related Art A Universal Mobile Telecommunication Service (UMTS) Terrestrial Radio Access Network (UTRAN) mainly includes a plurality of radio network controllers (RNCs), Node Bs, and user equipments (UEs). A RNC controls its associated Node Bs by controlling its MAC and physical layer (PHY) to provide a service to UEs by allocating radio resources and controlling handover. The control of the MAC and PHY is carried out by a radio network controller (RNC) through layer-3 information. In case of a downlink (DL), the MAC layer controls the physical layer to provide transmission services to UEs. The MAC layer is responsible for multiplexing the user data stream through flow control and scrambling for modulation and coding. In case of an uplink (UL), the MAC layer sends the dedicated control information to the physical layer as part of the user data stream. Meanwhile, a UE can attach to a specific cell, from which it receives a service. There may be cases where the UE receives a service from a cell other than the specific cell and thus moves from the cell, during which the UE detaches from the cell and thus continues receiving the service from another cell.The International Science Olympiad (ISF) provides students with an opportunity to compete and win international gold medals for achievements in the fields of Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics. According to the Federation of OECS Countries, the four disciplines account for roughly 95% of Physics, 95% of Chemistry, 97.5% of Biology and 70.5% of all Mathematics contributed to the ISF. In addition to the state-level competitions, the ISF offers the opportunity for students to test themselves against the
